CARLINVILLE HIGH SCHOOL
CARLINVILLE, ILLINOIS

"The most important bill in our whole code is that for the diffusion of knowledge among the people. No other sure foundation can be devised for the preservation of freedom and happiness."

Thomas Jefferson

Each day the sounds we hear are much the same—shuffling feet, banging doors, excited talk of games, dates, dances, but there are other sounds, also. The opening of books, chalk on the board, class discussions are the quieter sounds—the call of learning for us to follow.

"He seldom spoke; but what he said was clear,
And full of sense, so that you wished to hear;
Of high ideals and virtue was his speech;
And gladly would he learn, and gladly teach."

Chaucer

IN MEMORIAM

Each day we saw Dr. Leasman working in his office, speaking to a student about his college plans, or addressing the student body—but wherever we saw him he was hard at work. His involvement extended to all areas of our school—academics, sports, organizations, and also included a real concern for each student. From the most important decisions to the most minor ones, he was the guiding influence of our school for over 22 years.

He was an outstanding educator. In 1946, after serving as a Lieutenant in the Navy during World War II, he came to our high school as a teacher of chemistry and physics, and just two years later was named as principal. In 1963, he became superintendent. He was a man of great knowledge and ability and held both a master's and a doctor's degree from the University of Illinois. It was through his efforts that such organizations as the National Honor Society came to our school.

He had a special interest for all sports, and not only was an avid fan for our school, but also took special care to see that the teams were well equipped. He could almost always be seen along the sidelines at a game, happy and proud if we won or the first to give the team encouragement if we lost.

He commanded the respect of everyone he knew, in both the school and the community. He'll be missed by all of us—but never forgotten.

ACTIVITIES

The Court consisted of Judy Selvo and Bob Albracht, last year's Queen Cheryl Weatherford and Mike Weller, Liz Otto and Jim Ashworth, Queen Judy Bormida and Don Brown, Linda Hudson and Pete Genta, Cathy Boente and Jim Hopper, and Kendra Harris and Jack Rutherford.

A NEW QUEEN REIGNED . . .

All activity stopped as Cheryl Weatherford crowned the 1968 Queen, Judy Bormida.

Judy waited anxiously while the votes poured in.

Queen Judy Bormida and escort Don Brown.

Another Lions' Club Carnival ended in a success. It was enjoyed by the young and old alike with activity for all. The string of red wagons called the young and the bingo tables lured the young and old. The queen candidates and their escorts enjoyed the Carnival as much, or perhaps more, than everyone else. Memories of the 1968 Lions' Club Carnival are deeply embedded in the minds of the Lions' Club Queen and her escort as well as the girls and escorts in her court.

THE HALLOWEEN PARADE

The junior class won first place with their float, Pioneers Entering Illinois. It consisted of a covered wagon pulled by two oxen, with Indians attacking the pioneers. Shown in this picture is Mary McKee as she was savagely attacked by an Indian.

These juniors stopped work for a few seconds to pose for a picture. They devoted many long and hard hours to produce the winning float. Unfolding napkins was only the beginning—the first place prize was the victorious end.

The senior class won second place in the Halloween parade with their float entitled "150 Years of Progress." The float consisted of a state of Illinois, a cardinal, the state bird, and a violet, the state flower. Members of the senior class were dressed to show the changes in the past 150 years. As the float proceeded in the parade, they sang our state song, "Illinois."

The sophomore class placed third with their float, "Land of Lincoln." Marshall Clark, dressed as Abraham Lincoln, spoke to the crowds from the back of a train. This float portrayed Lincoln's popularity and public approval.

The freshman class' first float placed fourth. It was also entitled "150 Years of Progress." This float consisted of a time clock. At certain intervals the hand of the clock moved to a different date at which time two of the freshman students came out wearing the typical dress of that time. Here they are wearing clothes of the year 1868.

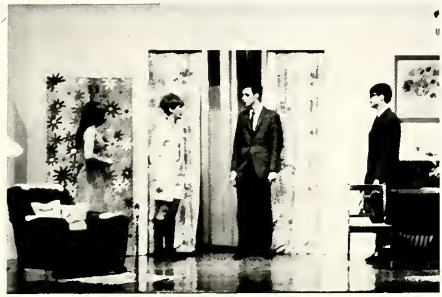
The cast of the senior play are pictured from left to right: Front row: Gail Miller, and Amy Russell, and Cathy Boente, Back row: Tim Moore, Melvin Rushton, Director George Reid, Geanne Loveless, Student Director Mary Wilson, Joy Borman, Mark Boehm, and Jerry Adam.

"ME AND MY SHADOW"

"Third time's a charm," said Sabu just before he again failed to kill Shadow.

The many rehearsals resulted in a play well done.

"My name's Shadow. I live here too," said Shadow to Mr. Harrington's Mother-in-law.



"Will somebody please take me home? I'm scared of this place!" cried Susan.

"Me And My Shadow" is a three act comedy written by J. Vincent Barrett. The entire action took place in the Harrington home in a small Mid-Western city during the present time.

Upon returning from taking his wife to the train station, Mr. Harrington rescued a young girl. As a result of his gallant deed, he became the master of this girl and she insisted that he accept this responsibility.

The humorous chaos that resulted was very entertaining. The senior class deserved congratulations for this successful, well-done production.

"She's wearing my dress!" exclaimed Mrs. Harrington upon seeing Shadow.

"I forgot what to do in a case like this," said Mrs. Harrington as Bruce Douglas faints from the shocking news that he is now Shadow's master.

SHADES OF CAMELOT 1968 HOME-COMING

Everyone enjoyed dancing to music provided by the "Far Cryse."

The Student Council spent many long hours decorating for the dance.

This replica of the "sword in the stone" was one of the end results of their efforts.

Karen Stayton and Bob Konneker paused a moment for refreshments at the castle.

Dana Browne (top) was the Homecoming flower girl. Ann Johnson and Danny Browne were crown bearers.

The Carlinville High School Student Council sponsored its annual Homecoming November 29, 1968. They chose as the theme "Shades of Camelot." The gym was transformed to the 7th century castle and court of King Arthur, complete with a replica of Camelot itself and the "sword in the stone" as the center attraction. Tables were decorated with pink castles and everyone received a souvenir of a crown. There was dancing in the Arthurian air to the music of the "Far Cryse", whose music was a far cry from Arthurian; however, it was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone. The climax of the evening was the crowning of the Homecoming King and Queen, Mark Boehm and Becky Stone.

Cast of the 1968-69 Junior Play

"IT'S GREAT TO BE CRAZY" JUNIOR CLASS PLAY

"Bernadine, I just know I'm related to Elizabeth Barrett Browning," confided Betty Lou.

"What is this world coming to?" pondered John Maxwell.

"Hocus pocus, skeleton come out of the closet" chanted Wilbur and Hercules.

"Shoot a mile, Hercules, look what's in the closet!" exclaimed Wilbur. "They sure don't look like skeletons to me!

"I don't care if ya don't like it, Gertrude, shut up!" warned Louie.

"Are weird things like this always happening in this house?" Mrs. J. Jasper Jennings worriedly asked.

"I just don't know what to think about John, Aunt Mary; he's been acting so strange lately," confided Janet Maxwell.

"Oh no! It's finally happening to me too!" exclaimed John Maxwell.

Probably no people in history have had anything to contend with like a certain couple named Maxwell. Granted, the pioneers had Indians to enliven their days, and the Martins had the 'Coys, but the Maxwells have Wilbur, Connie, and Betty Lou to bring them year-round offspring fever.

Their latest misadventures started when Betty Lou had a poem printed in the school paper. Since grandmother Maxwell's maiden name was Barrett, Betty Lou just knew she was a descendant of Elizabeth Barrett Browning.

So she wrote to a firm that "looked up family trees." The reply was intercepted by Mr. Maxwell, who gasped when he read that his ancestors included a gal named Sarah the Sparrow, Lester the Leech, and Stern Faced Stella. Wilbur and pal, Hercules, decided to be magicians, and since they were magicians, the boys decided to commune with the skeletons in the closet. By now everyone was frantic, including dazed Mother and distraught Father. By the time a letter arrived explaining about the family tree, everyone was limp from laughter.

Intermission was a time for the audience to sit back and enjoy folk songs by the Choralettes.

It was also a chance for Director George Reid to relax a few minutes.

(Top) David Black and Mitzie Royer were voted best dressed freshman hobos.
(Bottom) From the senior class, the honors were won by Dennis Bouillon and Janet Whitby.

Bill Klaus and Ginny Ashby won the honors from the sophomore class.

The best dressed junior hobos were Danny Caudle and Pat Murphy.

Peni House showed everyone that even a hobo can have a fur coat.

HOBO DAY

Darrell Bellm paused a moment to show the camera what a hobo businessman looks like.

Danny Millard put a lot of effort into looking good for hobo-day.

Kevin Rushton and Adair Schmitt looked exceptionally nice.

Even the fact that it was dress-up day didn't slow down the usual chaos in the halls between classes.

DRESS-UP DAY

(top right) During lunch hour, some of the girls looked very nice as they discussed the day's activities

Harold Mabus decided that being dressed like an Ivy Leaguer warranted looking into some college entrance material.

Debbie Schmidt, Sandra Sanson, and Patti Bormida seemed to enjoy dress-up day.

CHRISTMAS CONCERT

The mixed chorus (top), directed by Prof. Reid, and the girls' chorus (bottom), directed by Mr. Strode, sang many beautiful Christmas carols.

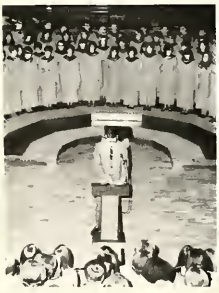
The senior band (top) and the junior band (bottom), under the direction of Prof. Reid, played many inspiring selections.



Richard Walden read "The Christmas Story" from the Bible.

Cathy Chism sang "O Holy Night."

Diane Ullery and Mary McKee sang "What Child Is This" accompanied by Mary on the guitar.

This year's annual Christmas Concert began with a candle light ceremony by the mixed and girls' choruses followed by a Bible reading by Richard Walden. During the remainder of the program the girls' chorus, the mixed chorus, the senior band, the junior band, and several solos provided much entertainment.

(top) The senior band, directed by Prof Reid, gave one of its usual stimulating performances at the Spring Concert.
(bottom) The junior band also performed well in its first Spring Concert.

SPRING CONCERT

(top) Mrs. Reid accompanied the mixed chorus as they sang their inspiring selections.
(bottom) Mr. Strode directed the formally dressed girls of the girls' chorus as they sang several lovely songs.

Dick Weber (top) demonstrated three basic types of handwriting. (bottom) Cathy Boente learned some amazing things about herself when Mr. Weber analyzed her handwriting.

Dick Weber demonstrated the art of handwriting analysis. He related some experiences he had had in predicting such events as suicide and solving crime puzzles by examining bits of handwritten evidence. Weber added to his program by selecting participants from the audience.

Sgt. Pike, an Illinois State Policeman, discussed safe driving habits.

During his performance, as a magician, he was assisted by Melinda Arnett and Judy Liston.

Sgt. Pike, an Illinois State Policeman, gave an interesting talk last October on the values of having safe driving habits. He also gave a short demonstration on magical tricks.

Sgt. Pike ended his lecture with his slogan, "Safety is no accident."

Becky Bentley was the guinea pig for demonstrating trampoline skills.

With the help of Greg Weatherford's strong back, Mr. Schmidt demonstrated several gymnastic feats.

(top) John Wadsworth was almost taught how to keep his balance.
(center) Students who participated in the assembly were Bill Stilwell, Gary Schmidt, Deb Browne, Becky Bentley, and Janet Liay.

Otto and Sandy Schmidt gave an interesting three part assembly including gymnastics, music, and a touch of their personal philosophy on life. These three elements were combined to provide a very entertaining program.

ASSEMBLIES

On April 24, we had a demonstration on the art of Bohemian glass blowing by Ernest Kober. Besides showing many interesting forms of blown glass, he demonstrated how neon signs are produced and the elastic qualities of glass.

Using his Bohemian glass blowing skills, Ernest Kober made and gave to the school a glass duck.

Mr. Kober also explained how neon signs are made and used.

As his finale, he blew a huge glass bubble.

Center: It was soon discovered that the meal tasted as good as it smelled.

Right: The teachers seemed to enjoy the meal as much as the students did.

Right: Everyone obviously enjoyed ice cream and cake for dessert.

AWARDS BANQUET

On May 20, 1969, a special awards banquet was held for the student librarians, FTA tutors, stage crew, candy store workers, "Cavaliers on the Air" members, Cavalier staff, and the yearbook staff and photographers.

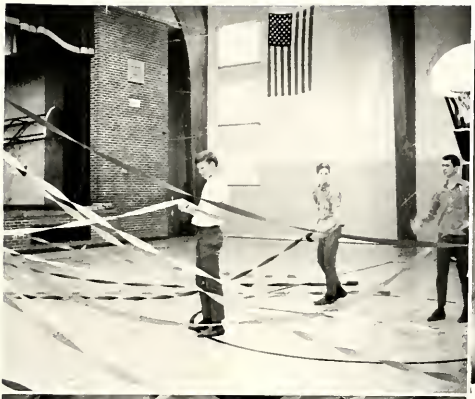
The evening began with a delicious steak and chicken dinner. Following the dinner, the honored guests were introduced by Mr. Redfern, Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Amyx, Mrs. McVey, Mrs. Simpson and Mr. Reid.

Mr. Reid introduced the members of the stage crews.

Mrs. Scott awarded all of the student librarians with their pins and letters.

Mrs. McVey introduced the FTA Tutors and thanked them for their help.

Mrs. Simpson introduced the members of the Cavalier staff.



Tony Manning determinedly strung crepe paper for the ceiling.

PREPARATION FOR PROM

Walter Stevens, Paul Bellm, and Tom Oller (top) began the construction of the ceiling. Rich Clark (bottom) added his special twist.

David Shipley supervised the construction of the ceiling by Gary Schmidt and Paul Bellm.

Mary McKee, Melinda Arnett, and Jill Leffelman hung decorative flags.

Everyone seemed to enjoy going "... around the world in eighty days."

AROUND THE WORLD IN EIGHTY DAYS

The most frequented side attraction of the "Around the World in Eighty Days" theme was the Pyramid Room-- commonly known as the refreshment stand.

Another interesting stop was the souvenir shop which contained everything from Hawaiian leis to Japanese parasols.

The music for the prom was furnished by a popular Chicago group known as the Trolls.

Many of the music critics preferred listening to, rather than dancing to, the sound of the Trolls.

Paula Flori and Mark Beasley evidently had a great time too.

CARLIN-HI STAFF

We, the Carlin-Hi staff members, are chiefly upperclassmen who knock ourselves out struggling for quality and originality in producing the annual yearbook. Somehow, in spite of many harrowing, hair-pulling experiences, we have again pulled together a great yearbook for 1969. But then again, how could we have failed under the cool guidance of Mr. Amyx and the stalwart command of our two editors.

F.F.A.

The CHS Future Farmers of America is an outstanding chapter. These boys have participated in three sectional judging contests, put up the flag daily, put up the manger scene on the square, and sponsored a Family Night. They won third in the state in the American Heritage contest, fifth in cooperative activities, and they had two state winners, three state farmers, and a state outstanding reporter. It seems to have been a productive year for our future tillers.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The primary aims of the Student Council are to promote understanding and cooperation between students and faculty, to consider common school problems, and to encourage good citizenship. This year the Council sponsored the Homecoming Dance, the football and track concession stands, hobo and dress-up days, and the dress code which was printed on plastic folders to be distributed to all students. A very successful area workshop was conducted by this group as a part of Student Council Week.

TRI-SCI CLUB

The Tri-Sci Club was organized to give students, interested and gifted in science, an opportunity to further study the fields in which they are most interested by taking field trips and doing project work under the direction of Mr. Dixon. These people have a genuine interest in science, biology, chemistry, or physics.

CAVALIERS ON THE AIR

Cavaliers on the Air is the name of the school's radio program. Every Saturday at 9:35 a.m. the ringing voices of Rich, Liz and Steve come over the air reporting school happenings, telling about future events, and interviewing VIP's.

Left: There's a lot going on with these kids early Saturday morning.

GYMNASTICS

The Gymnastics Club trains interested students in the art of jumping on a trampoline, tumbling on the mats, and becoming proficient at other related skills. These agile bodies perform at basketball games. Senior boys and girls completing three years of work receive a pin.

F.T.A.

The purpose of F.T.A. is to give students a little insight concerning the duties of a teacher. This year members tutored students, had a dinner at the Bowlero, and served as guides for parents during American Education Week.

G.A.A.

G.A.A. members are the female athletes in our school. Each week they put in extra hours participating in the sports Miss Devitt has planned. This year G.A.A. had a Christmas party and two playdays. The G.A.A. bowling team was outstanding, placing first in the state. Look to the G.A.A. girls for Carlinville High's marvelous physiques.

LETTERMEN'S CLUB

Officers: Bill Konneker, President; Skip Brooks, Vice-President; Peter Genta, Secretary-Treasurer.

The Lettermen's Club, under the supervision of Coach Bottrell, is made up of boys who have earned one or more letters in sports. The club tries to develop school spirit among the members, produce better athletic programs, develop respect for school property, and develop a sportsmanlike attitude among CHS athletes.

SENIOR BAND

Granted, putting a horn together is a bore, finding a place to sit is a nuisance, and the scales are a drag. But if you're sitting in your first hour class wrestling with the desire to fall asleep, or flexing your muscles tired from sitting, and you hear the band, suddenly you want to become a part of it. It's something behind the modest flute trill and the swinging drum rhythm. It's something about sitting before an audience and hearing your instrument's voice blend with the others and knowing it's right.

Being in the band is a struggle of discipline, coordination, and music sense. Mr. George Reid has spent many harried years turning skittish seventh-graders into skilled Senior Bandmen. The bandmen can, of course, compete for a music award or rack up credits for graduating by being in the band, but neither of these are comparable to the satisfaction of working out a difficult passage early some school day, because then you're part of a living, thriving asset to C.C.H.S.—the Carlinville Senior Band.

A CAPPELLA SINGERS

The A Cappella singers, a select group from the Girl's Chorus, participated in many of the same activities as the Chorus. They added their voices to the spirit of the Christmas assembly and the Spring Concert.

CHORALETTES

The Choralettes, selected from the larger Girl's Chorus, are the traveling tones. They do lots of extra appearances; this year, their travels took them to Peaceful Valley, twice to sing for the Women's Club, and to Lakeview Nursing Home. They also sang at the Christmas assembly, the Spring Concert, and between the acts of the Junior Play.

GIRLS'

Girls from all four classes at C.C.H.S. come together to form the Girls' Chorus. They entertained the school at the Christmas assembly, added to the melodic mood of the public spring concert, and benefitted the school's reputation by achieving a rating of excellent in the State Contest at Taylorville.

CHORUS

The Mixed Chorus participated in a flurry of activities during this school year. Besides performing in the school's Christmas concert and in the annual Spring Concert, they sang at the Elks Memorial Ceremony and went Christmas caroling. Their combined talent and hard work showed when they received a rating of excellent in State Contest.

SOUTH CENTRAL CHAMPS IN '69

Our Carlinville Cavaliers displayed sharp and unique football skills on the field in our successful 1968-69 season, as they boasted an 8-1 record, winning the conference for the tenth time. The team created "eves of frustration" for all of their opponents with the exception of the Jerseyville Panthers who handed the Cavaliers their only defeat. As for the South Central Conference games the team went undefeated, making us the champs in '68.

Coach Schuetze and his fighting Cavie's running attack resembled a perpetual motion machine. They molded their offensive game around some hard charging backs while the defense managed to hold the opponent's scoring to a minimum of points. Even though they were outweighed by 20 or more pounds in most instances, they still averaged 19 points a game. Carlinville scored a total of 177 points, while their opponents only managed a total of 73 points.

The players and coaches were proudly supported by many enthusiastic fans throughout the season. These fans helped give the boys the added incentive to fight and fight hard. This, of course, provided only a secondary urge to win. The Cavalier team had the spirit and was eager to win. The mental and physical prowess displayed by the team was still another point which led them to victory. These extra efforts were the underlying factors which helped the boys push themselves to the top—and become champs!

Some moments that will be remembered not only in the record books but also by the students and faculty of CHS are the defeats the Cavies handed tough South Central opponents such as the Staunton Bulldogs, the Gillespie Miners, and perhaps, most important, the Virden Bulldogs. These important victories put the South Central Conference trophy in our display case. Other victories in our schedule will also strike bells in our memories. One such occasion was on a cool Friday night when bombs were the theme as some fans set off an aerial bomb (as a kind of remembrance of years past) after each Carlinville touchdown. This amounted to a near Fourth of July celebration as the Cavaliers put together a superb offense scoring 27 points.

All in all, this was a season to remember. Carlinville was underestimated in pre-season predictions, but as the season got under way we proved ourselves to be the best.

Pat Coyle

The Carlinville Cavaliers of 1968-69 established a key factor in creating a winning football team. The players as well as the coaches worked hard in putting together a successful season, thus producing a winning element known as "team work". Jim Brooks, Dave Lusk, Scott Reichman, Bill Konneker, Jim Hopper, and Bill Stilwell got glory from action in the backfield, but they wouldn't have had this opportunity if it had not have been for linemen such as Rick Stratton, Ron Reiher, Greg Weatherford, Jerry Brooks and Jay Barr. These are the boys who made the holes for the others to run through.

The Cavalier line nullified many of the oppositions' gains. Coach Easton, our line coach, took pride in his work as he shaped the boys into real fighters. A strong secondary defensive backfield also worked in harmony for the Cavies in 68-69. Pat Coyle, Larry Huyear, Tom Gazda, Bill Stilwell and others were credited for many tackles throughout the season.

A football team can be centered around one strong player, but when it comes down to the overall record of the team his efforts are to no avail. Coach Schuetze combined all of his players into one big happy machine that produced victorious football for CHS.

Pat Coyle gains yardage to help the Cavaliers beat Virden 27-13.

CO-CHAMPS 1969

Vince does it again!

Dave takes a turn.

Alan Justice, Tim Yowell, Don Kates, and Clay Brown were the 1969 basketball managers.

Who finally got it in, Pat or Vince?

Curt Coonrod, Dick McClain, Warren Weatherford, Ronnie Lapp, Bill Zellman, John Lapp, Rick Bertinetti, Richard Otto, Jeff Coonrod, Barry Adkins, Tom Pressler, Tony Manning, David Klimut, Steve Parr, Randy Opper, Tim Simpson, Tom Dunn, Clayton Brown.

RUN BOYS RUN!

Tony wins again!

The Carlinville Cross Country boys finished out their season with not too many victories but a lot of hard work. As Grantland Rice put it, however, "It's not if you win or lose, it's how you play the game." The boys played the game to the best of their ability but for most of the boys it was their first experience in being on the Cross Country squad. There were only a few seniors to give Coach McClain the experience the squad so badly needed. Rick Bertinetti, Pete Genta, Warren Weatherford, Tom Pressler, Ron Lapp, Curt Coonrod, and Steve Parr made up the senior roster. For a varsity squad in Cross-Country this was not enough of the "older generation."

The Cavaliers came through the season with a few wins, but more losses. We haven't given up, but the Cavies are looking to the future. Two of the juniors—Tony Manning and Tom Dunn—will be back next year. Both boys placed in the upper 5 in well over half the meets, and Manning had several firsts and also placed well in the district meet.

The Freshmen and Sophomore boys are not scarce and several of them have a good looking future ahead of them on the Cross-Country team.

Senior boys talk over old times.

At the Salad Bowl we had our own room.

Resting after a delicious meal at the Salad Bowl.

BACCALAUREATE

Waiting for last minute instructions the seniors stand alert.

Marshals this year are: J. C. Bausano and Ginger Reiley.

GRADUATION

Mary Wilson giving her valedictorian speech.

Judy Selvo giving her salutatorian speech.

Pete Genta, Carol Leefers, and Mary Wilson received the science awards.

SENIOR HISTORY

This page has been reserved as a tribute to our graduating seniors—a short history of their honors and their idiocies during their high school years.

Think back now to the first day you walked CHS's hallowed halls as freshmen. Remember how exciting it was— the crushing death rush in the halls between classes, bumping into all those enormous people, and always getting pushed to the back of the lunch line? But as time passed we managed to adjust to our new life, but just as most of us began feeling reasonably secure again, came a memorable night for us all—initiation. Who could forget this evening when we all officially became members of CHS, and all the grease and glitter that went with it? Yet, in all our muddled confusion we managed to snatch first place that year in the Halloween parade with our float of life down Mexico way.

As sophomores life settled down to pleasant days of Julius Caesar and biology frogs. For some came the graduation into the senior band and into the wonderous complexity of trying to march in a straight line. It was the year for athletics—an undeafeated season in football and conference championship in basketball. And, to top off the year, came another first in the Halloween parade recreation of HELLO DOLLY!

A new year—our junior year—and new experiences. Magazine selling was a venture in vexation for some of us, but for those gifted in the art of salesmanship, it was a profitable time for both the participants and for the class treasury. For the theatrically inclined there was the junior play, ROOM FOR ONE MORE, and their first taste of lights, lines, and petrification with stage fright. Yards of crepe paper and a great deal of work created the setting for an enchanted evening in the land of "A Thousand and One Arabian Nights." In basketball, we had a victorious year, finishing with a second in the sectional tournament;-and, to end the year's achievements, a glowing last place for our jolly green giant in the Halloween parade.

And so we've reached our final year, of which this book is a record. Our learning draws to a close with turbulent recollections of Macbeth, fruitflies, and of course, Civics. It was a year of memorable moments—homecoming in Camelot, once around the world at the prom, a night of nerves for those in the senior play—and our one and only senior trip. Then or course there was our final moment, that of graduation—the end to make way for a new beginning.

ACADEMICS

SUPERINTENDENT

CONGRATULATIONS SENIORS !

This yearbook represents the final chapter of your four years in high school. The co-editors Kendra Harris and Jo Ann England and their staff have worked diligently to make this annual the crowning achievement of your high school career. The senior class is to be commended for the example it has set for the underclassmen. You have made a good school a better school.

Good luck and best wishes for whatever vocation you choose in life.

Gilbert O. Redfern

Mr. Redfern, our superintendent, busily at work for our school . . .

PRINCIPAL

MESSAGE

The students, faculty, and staff at Carlinville High School must certainly recall the 1968-69 school year with a mixture of joy and sorrow. It has been a time of tragic loss as well as a time of pleasant achievement. I am confident that the co-editors will provide an accurate and memorable reflection of the events of the year for each of us.

John R. Evans

Our principal, Dr. Evans, hard at work . . .

Members of the School Board

The first day of school would be chaos if it wasn't for the already prepared schedules. This is done during long, hot summer days spent by Mrs. Amyx and Mr. Manley. The other person in this trio, Mr. Schonebaum, leads the way to discipline and good behavior for all of the CHS boys.

William Manley is from Wenona, Illinois. He attended St. Ambrose College, where he got his bachelors, and went to Northern Illinois University to get his masters.

Dorthy Amyx graduated from college with two degrees—a B.S. and M. Ed. She enjoys sewing and reading.

Milton Schonebaum has been teaching 18 years after graduating from college with two degrees—a B.S. and M.S. His young daughter keeps him on his toes at home.

BUSINESS

Ann Rolando graduated from Eastern with a B.S. degree. A young son is one of her special interests.

Mrs. Rolando gives David Grace some helpful suggestions as she catches a few of his errors. She is always "Johnny on the spot" when a student is in need.

James Van Nattan is from Morton which is near Peoria. He graduated from Illinois State. He is not married and this is his first experience in teaching.

Mr. Van Nattan smiles as he talks to a parent of a CHS student. I wonder if he is telling this parent what he really thinks of that student?

Carolyn Hallbauer, who has been teaching for eight years has two degrees from college —a B.S. and M. Ed.

Silhouetted against the big typing room windows, Mrs. Hallbauer takes time out to "practice what she preaches."

HOMEMAKING

AGRICULTURE

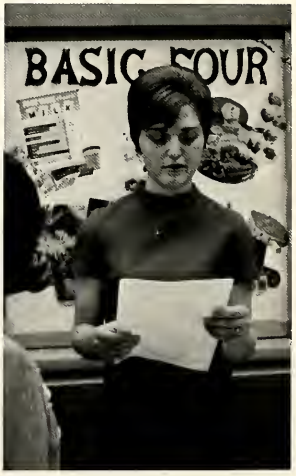
Margaret Bruce, a graduate of Millikin, has a B.S. degree. She teaches half a day so that she can spend the other half with her litte boy.

Nancy Geriets, our full-time home economics teacher, has a B.S. degree. She has two young daughters who are extremely talented at knitting.

Thomas Dozier has been teaching at CHS for two years after obtaining a B.S. degree. He along with Mr. Cahill is an advisor of F.F.A.

Peter Cahill, another ag teacher, has a B.S. degree. He is the proud father of a baby girl, born last year.

Mrs. Bruce listens as Trish Dwyer recites some material for her F.H.A. degree. This is one of Mrs. Bruce's tasks as a sponsor of F.H.A.



Mr. Dozier smiles as one of his ag students tells him of the experiences he is having as a future farmer. These experiences bring back memories for Mr. Dozier.

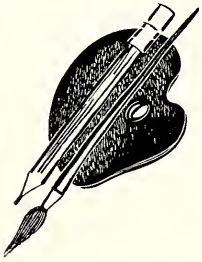
INDUSTRIAL

AND

FINE ARTS

Mrs. Dufner offers her many talents to Ellen Filippone as Steve Alderson and John Tigo try to become Michelangelos.

Marcy Dufner has a B.S. degree. She enjoys decorating her own home.



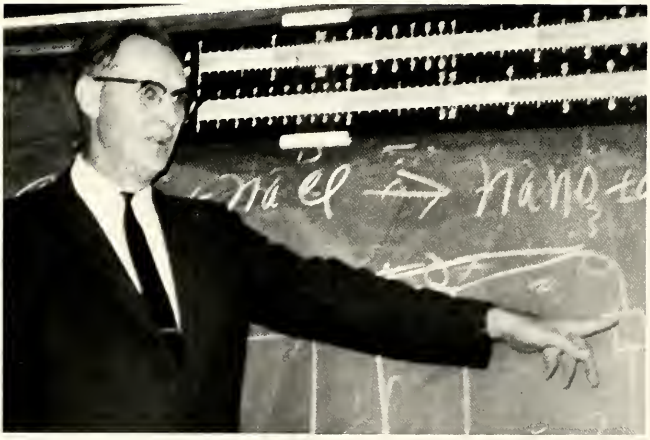
Mr. Sharer, shop expert, looks as though he has lost his best friend. Maybe he just broke his favorite compass.

Albert Sharer has a B.S. degree and is a graduate of E.I.U. He has taught school for 34 years.

SCIENCE

Here we see Mr. Dixon putting grades on report cards at the end of a 6-week's period. We are lucky to have Mr. Dixon in our science department because he makes a hard subject easier to understand by teaching it in an interesting way.

M. Dean Dixon has a B.A. degree and attended S.I.U. at Carbondale, Illinois. He has many hobbies consisting of fishing and photography. College teaching and marine biology are in his future plans.

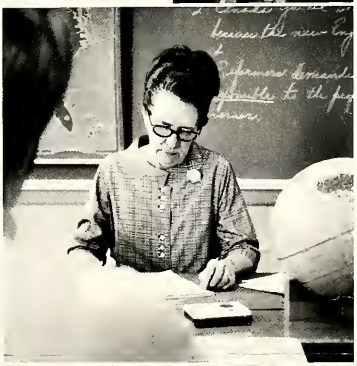


Mr. Cox is explaining some of the most interesting points of chemistry. The class was no doubt very interested, listening to every word he said.

Lester Cox obtained his Masters degree at Colorado State College and his B.S. from the Southwest Missouri State College. Mr. Cox has many outside hobbies such as gardening, fishing and remodeling.

WORLD AFFAIRS

James Fenton who has a B.S. degree in science is currently doing graduate work. In this candid it is rather difficult to decide whether Mr. Fenton is (1) pointing to something on the board, (2) getting ready to slug somebody or, (3) waving his truce flag.



Mary Zilm has an A.B. degree. Mrs. Zilm enjoys teaching her freshmen social science classes. She also teaches some junior high classes. Mrs. Zilm ponders a moment as she rereads an answer given on one of her tests.

Earl Griffths has a B.A. degree from Blackburn and a M.S. degree from the U of I. Mr. Griffths' ambition for the future is to retire. When Mr. "G" was asked his opinions on world and local matters he replied, "They are to numerous to name."

Reba Borman has an A.A. degree and a B.A. degree. Mrs. Borman enjoys water skiing among other outdoor sports. She enjoys entertaining—expecially teenagers.

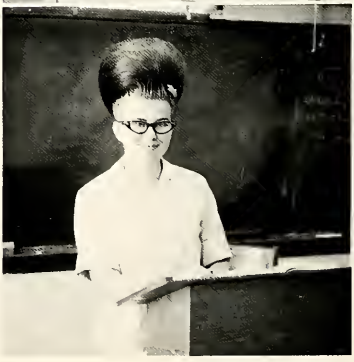
ENGLISH

Mrs. McVey makes helpful suggestions to her freshman English class as they are adjusting to high school life. Sybil McVey has a B.A. degree and is sponsor of F.T.A.

Frances Simpson smiles even though her desk is filled with papers to be graded. Mrs. Simpson is noted for her sense of humor. She graduated from ISU with a B.S. degree.

Donna Redfern smiles at some of the suggestions made by her senior students for speeches. This is Mrs. Redfern's first year of teaching at CHS. She is a graduate of Greenville College.

Barbara Dierolf obtained her B.A. degree from the University of Illinois. She also attended the University of Missouri. Mrs. Dierolf enjoys reading and sewing in her spare time.



FOREIGN

William Curtis listens as one of his students tears the Latin language to pieces. He is a beginner since this is his first year of teaching anywhere. He has a B.A. and a M.S. degree.

Nancy Dow smiles as she reads a humorous story from a literature book. Mrs. Dow has a B.A. degree with a major in English. Presently she is working for her M.A. degree at SIU.

Señor Ronald Garfield who has traveled extensively is telling his class of his adventures in Spain. Mr. Garfield has a B.A. and M.A. degree. He attended Illinois University and Middlebury College.

Charles Weishaupt has a B.S. degree in English. He enjoys photography and stamp collecting. He is working toward a Master's degree.

MUSIC, MATH

Luella Dickhaut has been teaching 16 years—5 years at Carlinville. She has a B.S. and M.S. degree. She things that the world could use more law and order.

Helen Stemmons has been teaching at CHS for 41 years. Miss Stemmons has a B.A. degree and a M.A. degree. She is a graduate of the U. of I.

Authur Clark has a B.S. and a M.A. degree. He is responsible for the maintenance of the school buses, and is principal of West School.

Miss Stemmons watches as her math students take a nation-wide test. She hopes that her many hours of teaching have paid off.

Luella Dickhaut waits patiently outside the guidance office to see Mr. Manley. It seems that one of her Algebra I students isn't doing as well as she would like.

Mr. Clark takes time out from his busy schedule to pose for our photographer. He is in charge of transportation.

MANAGEMENT

George Reid, alias Mr. Perfection, conducts the pep band during the half time of basketball game. This is just one of the many performances that the pep band made through the school year.

Everyone is allowed to have some enjoyable moments, including Prof. He worked hard all year with the bands, class plays, and mixed chorus.

George C. Reid, who has a B.S. degree, has been teaching for 29 years. He finds time for his special interests—like bowling.

Ben Strode has been teaching for 7 years after obtaining a B.S. degree. He plans to continue to teach and hopes to travel.

Mr. Strode's keen ear picks up a small mistake made by the chorus. Using his talent in music he helps the girls over the rough spots.

1-2-3 do re mi—Mr. Strode helps his girls in chorus get off to a good start as he gives them their first note.

PHYSICAL

Coach Easton's mouth drops open with amazement as a red flag is dropped on the play. Like many coaches he doesn't always agree with the referees' calls.

Andrew Easton has been teaching at CHS for four years. He has a B.S. degree from Eastern and a M.S. degree from Southern.

Between classes Miss Devitt and Miss Kauerauf take time to chat. Miss Devitt gives Dana, her student teacher, some pointers on teaching a girls' P.E. class.

Catherine Devitt has a B. S. degree. She enjoys sponsoring clubs such as G.A.A., cheerleading, and Pep Club.

Shame on Mr. McLaughlin! Doesn't he know that coaches should be more interested in watching the game instead of posing for a picture.

Richard McLaughlin graduated from Illinois State at Normal with a B.S. and M.S. degree. He keeps in shape by working out in the CHS gym.

Richard McLain graduated from Eastern with a B.S. degree. He coaches the Jr. high track team and the cross country team for high school boys.

EDUCATION

James Bottrell known for his "red socks" has a B.S. and M.Ed degree. Besides teaching science and coaching basketball, he teaches anxious teenagers how to drive. Keeping warm by wearing gloves, a stocking cap, and a heavy coat, Mr. Botrell watches a football game from the sidelines.

Jana Konneker has a B.S. degree. She teaches junior high and high school P.E. classes.

Mrs. Konneker takes a minute break after lunch. She not only enjoys teaching her P.E. classes but delights in taking part in some of the volleyball games.

William Schuetze has a B.S. degree and M.S. degree. His pet peeves are people who miss the waste basket and students who skip breakfast. Mr. Schuetze smiles as the cheerleaders call for his famous cheer.

Michael Vlasich has a B.S. degree. He is a freshman football coach and teaches jr. high science.

CAFETERIA

Spaghetti, salad, rolls, juice, what a meal! Some people just can't get enough of Mrs. Boente's G-O-O-D cooking. This is proven by Lynn Emery as he eagerly digs in every way possible.

Watch carefully as Pete demonstrates the proper way to eat a roll to all the guys at the football banquet. It's too bad that later we couldn't have gotten a demonstration on how he eats finger-licking-good fried chicken.

Do you know where you can find a fast change maker? Look in the cafeteria during the lunch hour as Mrs. Boente, the head cook, makes change for the hungry CHS students.

CANDIDS

"Who me? Crash? Now, Mr. Schonebaum, you know me better than that," insists Greg Albrecht. Everyday Mr. Schonebaum's eagle eye seeks out crashers and today that dependable eye caught Greg—tomorrow it may be YOU!

Even teachers have to eat sometime. Among the teachers seen here are Mr. Curtis and Mr. Van Nattan taking a breather from their hourly lectures.

Joanne Michell and Jennifer Wetzel are trying to be patient as they meet the demands of the sweet-toothed students at the candy machines of CHS. These machines are a money-making project of the Carlin-Hi Staff and are managed by members of the staff.

Pots, pans and all kinds of cooking utensils are kept spic and span by the cooks at CHS in order that they might prepare our varied meals. The cooks that we owe our great meals to are Mrs. Boente, Mrs. Justice, Mrs. Heigert, Miss Klaus, Mrs. Malham, Mrs. Rhodes and Mrs. Williams.

SECRETARIES

Watch as Mrs. Hurry, a speedy typist, gets ready to type an envelope in a split second.

Ruth Tosh, Frances Wills, and Kathyrn Bardone, take time from their work to pose for the Carlin-Hi photographer.

LIBRARIANS

Aside from the time it takes to sort and put books away; the librarians, Mrs. Scott and Miss Karloski find time to help sell tickets to one of the many exciting basketball games seen at CHS.

Mary Scott attended ISU, SIU, and the University of Colorado. She has two children and enjoys fishing.

Ruth Karloski has a B.S. and M.S. degree. She has been a librarian for 18 years.

In the library Mrs. Scott is always ready to help a student find needed information.

BUS DRIVERS

Left to right—back to front Robert Boente, Elmer Well, John Priddle, Fred Steiner, Reuben Fieker, Leo Dufner, Lloyd Shade, Erwin Behme, John Guthrie, Sterling Weller, Betty Pingleton, W. H. Bentley, and Lee Spangler.

Those not pictured are James Bentley, Raymond Boente, Lester Bettis, Gerald Lippold, Joe Wiese, Mel Dunn, Raymond Qualls, Betty Graham, Evan Lee, Lucille Ballinger, and Harold Wallner.

Here we see one of many school buses unloading the energetic C.H.S. students. I bet this bus driver is happy this long morning trip is over.

Towards whom should we show more appreciation? Here is a hint: They are the ones who get out of bed at 4:00 a.m., so they can warm up the buses for the dear little students that hop on at 7:00 a.m. Now do you know who they are?

If you haven't guessed who these co-operative people are, I'll tell you. They are called BUS DRIVERS.

We owe a lot to our bus drivers because they make a lot of sacrifices for us. The least we can do is to say "Thank you."

John Guthrie, Fred Steiner, and Erwin Behme, discuss bus pro and cons.

CUSTODIANS

Back Row:

John Roach

Sam Dooley

Front Row:

Harold Ladley

John Molen

Frank Pettit

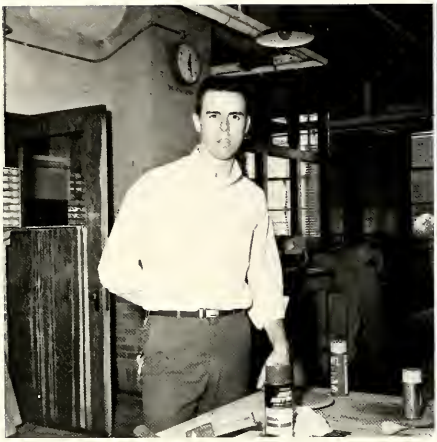
Mr. Molen and Mr. Roach take time out from their tedious work to enjoy an exciting basketball game. Mr. Roach even has time to pose for a picture.

Did you ever wonder who are the first people to arrive at school or the last to leave? Well, the answer is quite obvious if you really stop to think; of course, it is the custodians. They can be seen at any time of the day on school days and, often as not, on non-school days.

The custodians are truly friends in time of need. Whom can you always find when your locker is jammed or the water fountain is broken or the million other little things and some big ones happen at CHS? . . . A CUSTODIAN.

Mr. Pettit, a custodian, braces himself against the wall from the stampeding students.

MORE



Coach McLain stops and poses for a picture after showing some of his boys the fundamentals of carpentry.

Mrs. Geriets is in deep thought as she tries to decide the grade deserved by a student on her knitting assignment.

Mrs. Konneker and Miss Devitt look concerned as they listen to protests from a student who is accused of crashing.

Mr. Cahill tries to concentrate as he presides over students in his study hall. He is known for his iron rule in the study hall.

CANDIDS

Here we catch Mr. Dixon listening intently to one of his Biology I students explain about light energy.

Mrs. Dierolf, a junior English teacher reads over some of the material written by her students. Besides teaching English, she also teaches speech to the eighth graders.

"Who's been knocking at my door?" is probably what Mrs. Borman is thinking as she peeks out the door. She is surprised to find that it is one of our sneaky photographers.

Charles Weishaupt takes time to pose for a picture, much against his will, He enjoys his first hour study hall, where before school he can see "who's going with whom".

IN MEMORIAM

Charles Haggard
(1900-1969)

"If we work upon marble, it will perish; if on brass, time will efface it; if we rear temples, they will cramble into dust; but if we work upon immortal minds and imbue them with principles, with the just fear of God and love of our fellow-men, we engrave on those tablets something that will brighten to all eternity."

Daniel Webster

And so ends our record of the past year. We hope we have captured many of the happy and triumphant moments and even a few of the sadder ones, that you may better remember them now and in the years to come.

Our high school years pass swiftly, but yet they are among the most important of our lives. They represent a time of growth, but most of all a time of learning, and "upon the education of the people of this country the fate of this country depends."
